The A.F.T. Cannulas were designed with smooth edges to minimize possible cell damaging mechanical trauma.

All of the A.F.T. Cannulas are provided with a robust externally threaded luer lock™ hub design to provide an air tight fit on sterile disposable syringes.

All A.F.T. Cannulas are fabricated using surgical grade stainless steel to maximize corrosion resistance during multiple cleaning and autoclave sterilizations.

All of the A.F.T. Cannulas are supplied with reusable stylets to unclog the instrument.

Each A.F.T Cannula has the model number clearly labeled, which indicates the diameter and length for easy reference during surgery.
Each cannula is labeled with a model number that indicates the size and length of the instrument.

- The larger diameter cannulas will have a lower gauge number. Example: a harvest cannula will be 10 or 12 gauge, whereas a micro injection cannula will be an 18 or 19 gauge.
- The labeled length of each cannula is the effective tube length in centimeters; the luer connection hub length is not included.

Each of the A.F.T. Cannula Instrument sets include an autoclaveable instrument tray, two dual luer syringe connectors, a barb to luer adapter and various cannula sizes. These cannulas all have an external luer lock fitting, which enables a secure connection to sterile luer lock syringes.

Individual cannulas can also be added to each order to allow customer flexibility and specialization.
